The income statistics above are for all Saba Associates who were eligible to earn commissions (active Associates) in 2017. Income is defined as commissions and bonuses received from Saba and does not include income received from personal retail sales. Note that these figures do not represent an Associate's profit, as they do not consider expenses incurred by an Associate in operating or promotion of his or her business. The figure above refer to gross income (total income before any expenses are deducted). The expenses of an Associate incur in operation of his or her Saba business vary widely. Expenses of Associates can be several hundred or thousands of dollars annually. You should factor in estimated expenses when projecting potential profits. Such operating expenses could include advertising and promotional expenses, product samples, training, travel, telephone and Internet costs, business equipment and other miscellaneous expenses.

The earning of the Distributor in this chart are not necessarily representative of the income, if any, that any Saba Associate can or will earn through his or her participation in the Saba Compensation Plan. These figures should not be considered as a guarantees or projections of your actual earnings or profits. Any representation or guarantee of earning would be misleading. It is estimated that approximately 15% of all Saba Associates received no income at all. Success with Saba results only from successful sale sales efforts, which require hard work, diligence and leadership. Your success will depend upon how effectively you exercise these qualities and commitment to your Saba business.
